Not illustrated.1887 Excerpt: ... Tell me, said the old woman, lowering her voice, is it the magic of the Franks? It is, and it is not, answered Gregorios, willing to play upon her superstition. It is, truly, very mysterious, and a man who employs it must have clean hands and a brave heart. And so, indeed, must the person who benefits by th cure. Otherwise it cannot be permanent. The sins which burden the soul have power to consume the body, and ii there is no repentance, no device to undo the harm done, the magic properties of the fluid are soon destroyed by the more powerful arts of Satan. The Khanum looked anxiously at Balsamides as he spoke. At that moment the black slave girl returned, bearing tw little cups of coffee, while two other girls, exactly like the. first, followed with two lighted chibouques, a mangal filled with coals, two small brass dishes upon which the bowls of the pipes were to rest, so as not to burn the carpet, and a little pair of steel firetongs inlaid with gold. At a sign the three slaves silently retired. The Khanum drank the hot coffee eagerly, and, placing the huge amber mouthpiece against her lips, began to inhale the smoke. Gregorios followed her example. What is this you say of Satan destroying the power of your medicine? asked Laleli, presently. It is the truth, Khanum Effendim, answered Balsamides, solemnly. If, therefore, you would be healed, repent of sin, and if you have done anything that is sinful, command that it be undone, if possible. If not, your pain will return, and I cannot save you. Kow do you, a Giaour, talk to me of repentance? asked Laleli, in scornful tones. While you try to extract the eyelash from my eye, you do not see the beam which has entered your own. Nevertheless, unless you repent my medicine will no...
