During a brutal encounter, Russian bio-scientist Annelia Salenski is taken captive by Kaseem who plans on exploiting her expertise in genetics. She soon discovers Kaseem's true agenda one that involves using a terrifying technology developed by the Soviets during the Cold War. A technology that could alter the definition of what it means to be human. Racing against time to rescue Annelia and prevent Kaseem from unleashing the most horrific genetic weapon imaginable, George comes face to face with his true identity and unravels an astonishing truth behind a discovery made by an eighteenth century scientist a man that Voltaire once claimed knows everything and never dies.
